Motorcycle Accident

"Nine days after her accident, at her first follow-up, the doctor was amazed at how her face had healed."

"My friend Dianne was in a motorcycle accident. Unfortunately, she wasn't wearing a helmet and the skin on the left side of her face was scraped away by the pavement.

Two days after the accident, I took over all of the essential oil products I had on hand and that I thought would help her. I had a muscle and joint blend to help with the pain, bruising and swelling of her arm and leg, and a cleansing blend for any infection. For her face, we used a 5ml perfume spray bottle filled with a blend of 2 parts Frankincense, 1 part Lavender, and 1 part Myrrh. In a 10 ml roller bottle, I filled half with the same Frankincense, Lavender, and Myrrh blend, and then filled the other half with Fractionated Coconut Oil and Natural Vitamin E Oil. Dianne used the spray until her new skin filled in, applying it several times a day. She said it stung a lot for the first minute or so and then it felt a lot better. When her skin filled in, she used the roller bottle blend. Dianne applied extra Vitamin E oil after the blend if her skin still itched.

Nine days after her accident, at her first follow-up, the doctor was amazed at how her face had healed. She told him she was using essential oils, and he said, "Whatever mo-jo you're using, keep it up." Everyone is amazed at how great her face looks! These essential oils work."

Breath Holding Spells

"Farrah is now 19 months old and thriving with the life she has been given, essential oils freed her from dysfunction and pain! We are forever grateful for the pure therapeutic grade essential oils for changing our daughter's life and giving her back to us!"

"When Farrah was 11 months old she was diagnosed with pallid breath holding spells, an untreatable condition that we were told was normal, we were told to learn how to cope with her having spells, and wait for her to grow out of them around the age of 5. After her first spell we prayed there would be no more. Unfortunately they came every time Farrah became frightened, upset, or hit her head. These breath holding spells were frightening episodes, she would throw her head back and lose consciousness and stop breathing, and her lifeless pail body would lay there for what always seemed to be the longest minute in history. Her older sister learned to sit next to her and whisper "breathe" repeatedly until Farrah would come through.

After

After Farrah's spells started we lost the enjoyment of our daughter. Our days were filled with frustration and tears as she began to have crying fits that lasted about 45 minutes each several times a day. Nights were long as Farrah was waking up 10 times a night thrashing in her sleep. At play group she would sit on my lap and just stare, she had no interest in playing with other kids or joining activities.

During these months Farrah was battling with severe digestive problems and was tested for a variety of causes that all came back negative. We were then sent to a children's hospital where they discovered her liver enzyme levels weren't normal. After more blood tests it was found Farrah was an Alpha-1 MZ carrier, we were instructed to keep her away from smoke and try to keep her in the cleanest air to prevent her lungs from developing emphysema later in life.

While learning how to manage life for Farrah, her breath holding spells took a turn for the worse and she began to have seizures with them. Once again we were told that this was normal.

It was at this time a close friend shared with us pure therapeutic grade essential oils: frankincense, lavender, and the digestive blend. We noticed results immediately with the digestive blend and when we went a week with no spells; we were committed to using essential oils. It has been about 4 months since we have started using essential oils for Farrah and our results have been phenomenal! I can't remember her last breath holding spell! She is so much more outgoing now and enjoys playing and interacting with other kids. Farrah has become so silly since her spells have stopped her personality shines brighter than it has in a very long time. Farrah is almost sleeping through the night again and her crying fits are a thing of the past. We have even been able to get her off all her digestive medication using the digestive blend. We use frankincense and a balancing blend for her breath holding spells, a calming blend for her sleep, and a respiratory blend to aid her lungs."

Mole

"Okay, this is pretty remarkable!!! My husband was referred to a plastic surgeon to remove a mole from his face. I had just started using pure therapeutic grade essential oils in March 2012 and heard that oregano oil will remove skin tags, moles, etc. I used one drop of oregano oil on my husband's mole for 10 days and kept it covered it with a band aid. It did burn and itch a little bit, but nothing too uncomfortable. It is now completely gone! My husband's Doctor couldn't believe it! The skin where the mole was is smooth and shows no sign that the mole was even there. AMAZING! It has not come back."

"My 2 year old son was suffering from eczema before I started using pure therapeutic grade essential oils. I had tried all over the counter creams and then my doctor told me about a steroid cream to try. I didn't want to use a steroid and shortly after I attended an essential oil class. I have been hooked since! Within a month later the back of his legs looked great! So glad I found essential oils, especially for my son who had previously had two allergic reactions to antibiotics for an ear infection. No need for antibiotics now!"

Burn

"After a couple of weeks I started using Immortelle and have no scars and the muscle in my wrist has not been affected."

July 16th

"I was using my new electric roaster for the first time on Memorial Day weekend. I noticed the steam was going into my cupboards, so I decided to move it to a new place on the counter. It was heavier than I thought and it tipped when I picked it up resulting in burns from the steam and boiling water to my hand. My first instinct after putting it down was to put my hand under cold water.

After which I called for my lavender essential oil. My daughter-in-law brought it and poured it on my hand. Later, when I went to the ER, upon the urging of my nurse daughter who was visiting, I was asked what my pain level was on a scale from 0 to 10. I could honestly say it was 0. They were afraid I had damaged the muscle in my wrist and so I had to go to physical therapy. She also was amazed I had no pain. (That was after the lavender was applied.) Each time we changed the bandage, I washed my hand with the protective blend foaming hand wash and applied lavender oil, then bandaged it loosely with gauze. The first couple of days I also used helichrysum. After a couple of weeks I started using the anti-aging blend of essential oils and have no scars and the muscle in my wrist has not been affected. All, I am sure, because of pure therapeutic grade essential oils."

Road Rash

How it looks today

The Fresh Wound

Day 7-10 scabbed over

Day 14-16 no scab

4 weeks no scar

"After a fun day of swimming at a natural waterfall slide in Alpine Utah my kids were on their way home. One of my twin daughters Tylar, who is 12 years old decided to jump on her scooter and ride part way down the canyon. Of course she was in her swimming suit with no shoes! The scooter was hot from sitting in the sun. She proceeded to break to slow down but the scooter was just too hot to stay on it so she jumped off only to twist her ankle on a rock, lose balance and land on her shoulder while skidding down the paved road on her shoulder.

I received a panic phone call from my older kids wondering what they should do. Should they take her to the hospital? "Mom, it's really bad." I told them I was almost home and to meet me there first so I could take a look at it. When I saw how bad it was the 1st thing I did was tell her it was ok, that I was not mad at her & that we were going to clean her shoulder and if we needed to go to the hospital, we would but let's give the oils a try first.

Her cute shoulder looked awful! Tylar had 2 golf ball sized spots on her shoulder where the skin, several layers deep was removed from sliding across the paved road. She had a chunk of skin that was dug out and filled with asphalt. It was red and bleeding and her skin was so tender and she was in so much pain. I wanted to cry myself.

After cleaning the wound, which Ty came through like a champ, we applied melaleuca, lavender & frankincense topically to her tender shoulder and a protective oil blend on her feet. She never flinched while applying the oils and the lavender also calmed her anxiety. We proceeded to use these oils consistently for the next few days. On day 3 we added helichrysum for tissue repair and to the ones we were already using.

As Tylars shoulder started to heal, we noticed how quickly it was beginning to scab over. Her skin was healing nicely. The scab was never hard or brittle, no cracking or bleeding, any time. No pain, No anxiety, No infection, No Hospital, No Dr. visit, No medical bill!

After 7-10 days of using lavender, melaleuca, frankincense & helichrysum, the scab looked like it was getting close to falling off. At day 14-16 the scab fell off. The skin under the scab was so healthy! At 4 weeks Tylars shoulder looked perfect! You could not tell she had an accident.

We were truly blessed with an amazing experience! Not only for my family, but our friends and neighbors who watched it heal. We are so thankful for essential oils and how beautifully they have healed my daughters shoulder. Her cute freckles are gone in that area however, there is NO SCAR. NO SCAR!"

Multiple Sclerosis

"I have had multiple sclerosis for over 27 years now. The last two or three years have been particularly difficult. My disease was progressing, my quality of life had dramatically changed, and I was in more pain than before. My husband and I had started talking about changes that needed to be made in our home, because I was in my wheelchair or motorized wheelchair much more often. If I was walking that day, then I needed my cane, moved slowly and couldn't go far.

Then one day in September, a friend shared some information with me about essential oils. She gave me a mixture of frankincense/peppermint mixed with fractionated coconut oil.

A few weeks later my family went to our cabin. I almost didn't go because I was doing so poorly, and couldn't see how I'd be able to get around. Just getting from my house to my car with my cane was almost too much.

That night before bed, I noticed that little bottle of frankincense/peppermint in my bag and thought, "Oh what the heck, it can't hurt to try it." I remember laughing as I asked my husband to rub the oil along my spine, from the base of my head down. Neither one of us thought it would do anything. Just before he started, I had some nerve pain start in my finger. Nerve pain always lasts quite a while with me, and dang, it's painful. Well, I laughed and said, "Oh, spray some of that frankincense on my finger." He did, and about two minutes later, the pain was gone. That sobered us up a bit. Then my husband applied the Frankincense/Peppermint mixture to my spine and rubbed it in well. When he was finished, we all went to sleep.

The next morning, I got up, got dressed and went outside. It was when I was on my way back, with my foot on the first step outside the cabin when I suddenly looked down and realized I DID NOT HAVE MY CANE! I was seriously in shock. I had done all that walking totally on my own, with no problems. I walked through the doorway and my husband looked at me in surprise. He said, "What's going on? Where's your cane?" I laughed and told him, "I don't know!!!!!" It was simply amazing. Neither one of us could believe what had just happened. It was so incredible!

It has been about 9 months since I've needed my cane or my wheelchair. Do I still have MS? Absolutely. However, I am feeling good, have energy and I'm walking. Now realistically I know this will not always be the case. But I've been given a reprieve of sorts. These wonderful essential oils have given me the most precious gift of time. I've been given the opportunity of more time out of the wheelchair. I've been given more time to do things with my family. My quality of life has improved more than I can say. I am more active and just plain feel good. I'm so thankful that I did use that oil sample my friend shared with me. My entire family is thankful. Yes, at some point I will end up back in my wheelchair. That is simply the reality of my disease. But for now, I am so enjoying this extra blessing that was so unexpected.

I do have my husband rub the frankincense mixture on my spine every week. To make this mixture, I add 15 drops of both Frankincense and Peppermint to a 1 oz. spray bottle. Then I fill the bottle up not quite full with fractionated coconut oil. I spray some on my arms or legs whenever I have nerve pain. On my right side, I get about 85% relief from the pain, and on my left side it is usually 100% relief."

Seizures

Before

After

"A few years ago I became very ill developing a seizure, immune and chronic pain disorder. These medical conditions have become debilitation and at times life threatening. I lost my career, my independence and I suffered from so much pain and energy loss that I had very little motivation and suffered from depression and frustration. Just getting out of bed was too much work for me most days.

It was my Mother, a nurse, who first sent me some of the pure therapeutic grade essential oils. She had used them for a bout of pneumonia she had suffered with, and was excited to see what else they would work for. She sent me a few to try for my immune system and for my seizures as well as some of the weight-loss blend.

It was the weight-loss blend that I started becoming passionate about first. It was not like an energy drink high but more like a gentle subtle energy I just found myself wanting to do the things that I used to do without getting tired and without any pain!

Next I noticed the lavender was cutting down my nighttime seizures by nearly 30%. I am down to less than 3 seizures a week from 4-5 a day before. The neurologist has actually taken me off the meds and I am treating my seizures completely with pure therapeutic grade oils (lavender, clary sage, and frankincense). Without the seizure meds I now suffer less from irritating side effects such as tiredness and depression, muscle twitches and nausea.

I then started using more of the other oils that she sent me. It was not long until I knew I was hooked. I no longer purchase antacids over the counter, I take no harmful pain meds and I enjoy the clearest skin I have ever had since before my teen years. I have not been sick enough to see a doctor in months. I have more energy and accomplish more in my day than I have in years. Today I no longer even think of myself as sick for the first time in years instead of focusing on fear I am focused on the future again. That feels good."

"Due to a really bad car wreck that broke my neck, Oct. 11th 2011 my neck now consists of a plate from top to bottom and front and back with eleven rods. Two big screws hold my neck together. I was blessed not to be paralyzed but did get a lot of nerve damage and pain. When the bones broke in my neck they shot to the right of my neck and shards of bones embedded into the nerve of my right shoulder.

When my girlfriend, Lindsay, came over to share a little bit about essentials oils she had my attention within 2 minutes. She asked if she could do this "rubbing thing" on me. I said ok. At that point the pain meds only took the edge off from the nerve pain. After 2 hours into my pain meds time frame, I was crying with severe pain and would lay there and cry for 2 more hours till I could take some more meds.

As soon as Lindsay applied the 3rd oil I was feeling something; my neck felt looser and warm. The nerve pain was letting up some! I now have been using a massage technique with pure therapeutic essential oils for FOUR months.

I have been able to cut my narcotics in half and it helps me go longer in time before I take them. Mentally it has got me to say I don't want to be on these anymore. I know the oils are getting me off the meds. My doctor knows and supports the oils."

Skin Allergies

"I am allergic to everything my skin touches. I would get hives all over my body from touching animals, dust, and even water. The hives got to be so bad that I would itch 24 hours 7 days a week everywhere. My palms would itch, all up and down my arms, my legs, my stomach, my head and my feet. I didn't have one inch of skin that didn't itch. It was horrible. I tried everything I could think of including lavender oil and frankincense and nothing seemed to be working. One of my leaders suggested using the lifelong wellness supplements. I started taking those every day and within 2 weeks of taking those once a day I could see the hives starting to diminish. I still take lifelong wellness supplements every day and while I still have a hive every once in a while they aren't there for long and they don't itch as bad all thanks to the supplements."

Then I was introduced to weight management products and they changed my life! Having been in a position throughout my life to exercise and use different health and wellness products, I was not only interested in the pure therapeutic grade products to help me lose weight but I wanted to see if they could be used to transform my body and increase muscle mass and definition, reduce body fat percentage, improve overall health and wellness, and give me more energy and a desire to achieve my ideal shape. AND THEY DID! Not only that, but they continue to propel me forward, to achieve even more, and to continue to achieve even greater results. In 3 months I was able to lose 32 lbs but also redistribute the inches and gain greater physical strength and definition. I am able to do things easily now that were once a challenge. And since April 30th I've continued to use weight loss blend shakes, a weight-loss blend of pure therapeutic grade oils, digestive enzyme oils, and lifelong wellness supplements every day and I am a witness that they can not only help you lose weight but they can help athletes achieve greater performance and overall body fitness. Horse Virus

"On June 2nd 2012 one of my horses developed a terrible condition called Vesicular stomatitis. VS is a highly contagious virus that affects the mouth, nose, face and hooves of horses, cattle and sheep. It is required to contact the state veterinarians' office if it is suspected and my farm was placed under quarantine as a result. This quarantine kept me from being able to have my horse treated at a vet clinic and all of his treatment was done at home. (This turned out to be a very good thing, as I was able to use the pure therapeutic grade essential oils in place of many medications that would have been administered otherwise.)

His mouth and nose began to swell. His tongue, lips and jaw began to blister and slough off all of the skin. He was in so much pain he was unable to eat or drink any food. The doctors inserted a nasogastric tube which I would feed and water him through 5 to 6 times per day. He was also hooked up to IV fluids to keep him from dehydrating. As far as the blisters went there was nothing they could do for him and all I could do was to watch him suffer.

Because of the extent of his infection I had to find a way to keep the flies away as much as possible. I mixed up some peppermint and lavender oil and began to spray him with it. I was amazed as I found the flies were nearly absent from my barn using just these two oils. I began to spray a mixture of frankincense, lavender and melaleuca on his nose and mouth several times a day. I also mixed the oils in an Aloe Vera Gel (base carrier) and created a mouth wash that I syringed into his mouth 3 to 4 times per day. What I noticed within hours was a dramatic change in the discharge coming from his mouth. Before the essential oils he had a steady stream of puss dripping from his mouth and the smell.....well smelled like something rotting. By the next day he was still drooling but the color was changing from deep yellow to a white color.

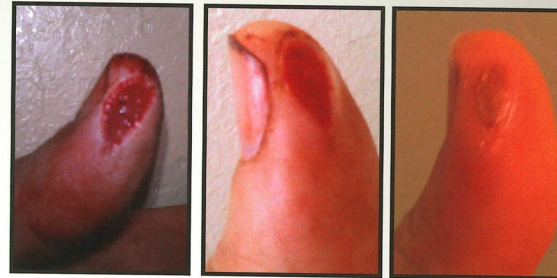

By the evening of June 6th the discharge was clear and the smell was drastically better. By the 7th of June I was able to pull the IV cath and on the 8th the feeding tube came out and he was back to eating and drinking. The vets came by because they wanted to place him on an antibiotic. I asked if we could wait a couple more days as I had seen a vast improvement in the infection and hoped we could avoid antibiotics. By sticking to my above protocol I was able to avoid all chemical fly sprays, antibiotics, as well as any spread of the disease to the remainder of my horses. His mouth had healed almost completely by the 9th of June.

The doctors informed me that this was the worst case of VS they had seen in our state and warned me that it could take upwards of 30 to 60 days before all the lesions might heal. By June 11 all the lesions had healed and when the state vet came out to see him on June 20th he was shocked that he was completely back to normal. The only evidence of the VS was a loss of all the pigment on his once dark nose. But that has since started to return as well. The state veterinarian stated that he was very surprised how quickly my horse had healed as many horses that had been diagnosed before he was that were far less sick with the virus were still not healed. I attribute this to the pure therapeutic grade essential oils and will continue to faithfully use them in my household and barn from now on."

Back Problems

"I was a non-believer in essential oils a few months ago but I can tell you my opinion has been changed. I have suffered from back problems for the majority of my adult life, due to a work related accident. Bedtime was always a challenge for me because trying to find a position that was comfortable was almost impossible. After finding essential oils, my life has changed. Every night before bed, my wife applies a blend of wintergreen, camphor, peppermint, blue tansy, German chamomile, Helichrysum and Osmanthus to the problem areas on my back. As a result of using these oils, I now sleep more soundly throughout the night and wake rested and ready for my day. I love essential oils."

My younger boy came running saying "Jayson was hurt...and there was blood all over!" All four fingers on his left hand were cut very deeply and my siblings all thought it required an ER visit and stitches. I have great confidence in the oils and immediately applied helichrysum to stop the bleeding, which it did immediately while several stood by and gasped! Next I applied frankincense, and then called my sisters to pick up first aid supplies. While waiting for them to return, I kept applying helichrysum and spraying on my "Skin Renew" blend every few minutes that I carry with me (containing frankincense, lavender and melaleuca with some fractionated coconut oil). Burn

"My one year old grandson, James, took the top of a humidifier and put his hand down into the boiling water. His mother immediately put a cloth doused in lavender on it and called her mother-in-law, who is a nurse. When she arrived and saw his hand she sent them to the hospital. The docs at the hospital sent him to the burn unit, as all the skin was gone from his hand. After a week with a pressure bandage on, the doctors then asked James' mother to change the dressings on his hand every day and just keep it moist with lotion. I told her we would certainly do more than that. We applied pure therapeutic grade helichrysum, lavender, geranium, melaleuca, and roman chamomile diluted in fractionated coconut oil and changed the dressing on his hand on a daily basis. He was just starting to transition from crawling to walking, but this burn delayed that as he stopped crawling altogether and would not use his affected hand. There was an added concern of scar tissue and tightening up that would affect his mobility as the burn was circumferential (around on all sides of his fingers). After two weeks my daughter took him back to the doctors and they were amazed at how well it had healed. It looked just like the other hand only slightly more pink. During the summertime the more severely burned part has not tanned as much as the rest of his hand, but that will become more normal with time. There is no scar tissue, no tightening and he has complete mobility. We feel so blessed to have these amazing essential oils to help in everyday things and especially emergencies such as this one."

While on the waiting list we learned that frankincense essential oil helps with palsy so we started using it carefully around the eye several times a day. [Note: Oils cannot get into the eyes, nose or ears.] By the time we saw the specialist his eye was beginning to open. We were told to give it 6 months. His left eye had 40% corneal burns and his right eye 10%. His eyes were so swollen shut he could not open them. He was airlifted to Harborview Medical Center in Seattle to the burn unit there.

When we got home from the hospital I made a blend of 8-10 drops each of helichrysum, lavender, frankincense and water in a 15ml glass spray bottle. He spritzed his face, arm & leg several times a day along with the recommended moisturizing ointment from the hospital and in about a week it miraculously healed. No scarring and no sign of injury. His eyes healed 100% and his vision is perfect. He's back to the handsome 12 year old boy that he once was minus some eye lashes and eyebrows...but those will grow back. Mosquito Bite Allergies

"I was shocked how the golf ball sized inflammation was gone, the redness gone, no more pus and his temperature returned to normal. I have been through these fevers over and over through the years and have never seen this type of success."

After

"Mosquito bites have been a big problem in my family for 15 years because my children are allergic. They get terribly inflamed. We have no problems anymore thanks to pure therapeutic grade essential oils. My boy's favorite is melaleuca. After they get bit, it starts to slowly but surely swell. By the 3rd night it is so painful the bite gets inflamed and itchy, they get a fever, and the bite area oozes. When we take them to the doctor they say go home and use Ibuprofen and an antihistamine, which don't help. When they got bites on the leg they could hardly walk by the 4th day and would lay around in terrible pain because of the golf ball size infection from the bite would stretch the skin and pus.

At 2:30 am one morning my 3 year old son woke so sick with a terrible 103 degree fever, inflammation, redness, and pus at the area. My son refused the ibuprofen and antihistamine so my next choice was to try my newly purchased essential oils. I layered melaleuca, oregano, rosemary and lavender. I set my alarm every 30 minutes until 10:30 am. I was shocked how the golf ball size inflammation was gone, the redness gone, no more pus and his temperature returned to normal. I have been through these fevers over and over through the years and have never seen this type of success.

About 5 days later, I sent my same son out to get food out of our garden for dinner. When he came inside, I found that in his short time in the garden, he was bit again between the eyes. Well, if the essential oils worked so well on ridding infection, let's see what it will do right away before it festers. So I applied Melaleuca immediately, and then applied every 15 to 30 minutes until he went to bed. It worked so well! It stayed tiny and it stopped the itching right away. It stopped the reaction in its tracks."

Car Accident

"Within a few months, all of my neck pain and brain trauma seemed to be completely healed, and I felt even better than before my wreck."

After

Accident

"In January 2011, as I was driving my son to school, we were involved in a roll over collision when another vehicle ran a stop sign at a very high speed and t-boned us.

I was so thankful once I knew my little boy was okay. That was the scariest moment of my life! He sustained some minor cuts and bruises but was still safe in his seat.

I, however, didn't fare as well. Although, I was so thankful I was alive, I had been ejected from my seat and hit my head on the passenger window as my vehicle rolled. I had many small cuts and lots of glass on my scalp. I sustained a very painful concussion and neck pain.

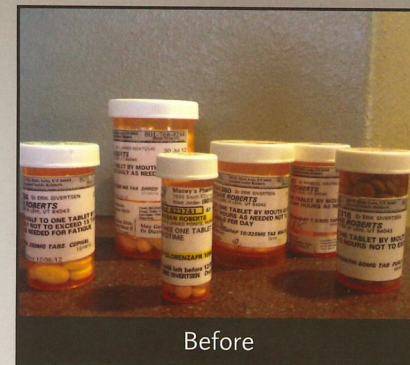

As a result of my brain injury, I had severe migraines. I was in a world of pain. But my biggest worry was other complications of the wreck. My speech was highly affected. I stuttered and had a very difficult time carrying on a conversation or even remembering simple every day words. I exhausted easily and felt very frustrated. My doctor told me the unfortunate problem with concussions is that there is little they can do for it. Only time could tell if my memory and speech would improve, but that it would most likely be a slow process as it takes some time for the brain to heal.

A few long weeks after my wreck, a neighbor shared with me some Frankincense. She told me to rub it on my temples and back of the neck to help my brain injury.

I remember the first time I applied it to my head, I could see the flashing lights of my headache dissipate within minutes. I continued using the frankincense several times a day and felt better every day. Within two weeks, my stuttering was almost completely gone and I could think clearly again!

Within a few months, all of my neck pain and brain trauma seemed to be completely healed, and I felt even better than before my wreck. I could see changes in my whole body and health from using the frankincense."

"About 11 years ago, 18 months after giving birth to my second son, I was having unbearable pains from my tailbone resulting from complications during delivery. We had tried every option to resolve the problem and finally determined that my tailbone needed to be surgically removed. 4 years later I was still suffering quite a bit and decided that I would seek a second opinion. It was quickly determined that I still had the infection, and since it had been left for so long, it was now an infection in the bone. I immediately had to have several surgeries to go in remove the bone, place a wound vac and drains, and was on IV antibiotics for almost a year. Since that time, I have had to have 7 more back surgeries. They have had to remove so much bone that my entire spine is now shifting and will eventually need a full spinal fusion.

For the past 7 years I have been prescribed incredible amounts of pain medicines just to be able to function each and every day. Each and every one of those medicines come with a list of side effects that usually call for another medicine to counter the effects. I have tried to go without them and quickly realized that I simply can't function with the pain.

That was until about 2 months ago. I was introduced to essential oils, particularly muscle and joint rub. I started using it several times every day. I couldn't believe the immediate relief I got. I quickly started replacing the medicine with it. I had been so dependent on for many years. As I was able to stop taking the pain meds, I stopped having all of the side effects that were related with those medicines, and no longer had to take the medicines that would treat the side effects. Not only am I saving huge amounts of money each and every month, I am able to feel more like the real me, with a clear mind more than I have been able to in years, and I want to tell EVERYONE in the world how amazing this product is!!"

Weight Loss

"At 257 lbs and with numerous health issues, I started using an essential oil blend, taking wellness supplements, enzymes and drinking weight loss shakes. Through sacrifice and a firm commitment to change my lifestyle by eating right and exercising, I have lost 73 lbs. Today, I feel great with none of the health issues I had before."

After Losing 73 lbs

"My 11 year old son, who has ADHD, has been on and off different pharmaceutical medications. Each had their own side effects that my wife and I did not like. We started taking him to a psychologist and the Doctor suggested taking him off all medications he was currently using. We followed the Dr's advice during this time we also started using Lavender and Serenity both night and morning. In a week's time I started to notice a difference both in his hyperactivity and his ability to pay attention. The real testimony here is that my son now comes to me at night and says, "Dad can you put some Lavender on me? It helps me sleep better." He also came to me one morning and said, "I have testing today, can you put some lavender on me?" I am a believer that this worked for my son."

Plantar Warts

"We were totally amazed because the warts were completely gone and the tissues healed very quickly without any pain!"

"A few months ago we noticed my son, who is 6, was walking a little funny. One of his feet turned in when he walked. Thinking it was just how he walked, we didn't think much of it until, over some time, we saw how it was affecting the way he ran. He didn't really like us touching his feet, but one night when he was laying down we looked at his one foot where he wasn't putting full pressure on it, and noticed a spot on the bottom of it. We weren't sure what it was but assumed it was a corn or something from rubbing in this shoe. After seeing it grow bigger over time, and noticing how uncomfortable it was for him to walk on it, we decided to take him to a podiatrist. We were surprised when he told us it was a plantar wart, and there were a couple more popping up in other areas on his foot. Because of the size of it, the doctor said it would require surgically removing it, which we would need to schedule fairly soon.

Knowing what I had heard about the oregano, and not wanting to spend a few hundred dollars for the surgery cost, I decided to give my oregano essential oil a chance. We started applying just a small drop on the wart a couple times a day and after being consistent for a couple weeks, it completely fell out. We were totally amazed because the warts were completely gone and the tissues healed very quickly without any pain! Our total cost? Maybe a couple dollars - a huge savings from the proposed surgery!

He now walks straight with no issues! I'm even more grateful now after seeing a friend of ours, who had a plantar wart even smaller than our son's, have surgery to remove it and is still in bandages and limping on it after 2 weeks! She said it's been a painful healing process for something she thought was so small. How grateful I am for the pure therapeutic grade essential oils and the small miracles we've experienced!"
